1. Investigating a Missing Settlement

Support should first verify the merchant and settlement reference, then check whether reconciliation has completed and whether a blocking exception exists.

2. Escalation

If a settlement remains unresolved after the standard investigation, support should provide the settlement reference, merchant identifier, relevant dates, and observed failure or exception details when escalating to Settlement Operations.

3. Customer Communication

Support responses should distinguish between a settlement that is pending, failed, and blocked by an unresolved reconciliation exception. Avoid describing a settlement as completed unless the settlement status confirms completion.
